CLASS HISTORY

On a warm sunny day in September, 1941, nineteen boys and girls trooped into the first grade room. They were welcomed by their teacher, Mrs. Max Hisey (nee Lola Kiplinger), who attempted to teach them the 3 R's. Virginia Stine, Jean McFerren, Bob Jeffery, Ray Markley, Dave Barnes, Darl Keen, and Art Spellman were among that class who have gone to Homer all their school life. During that year two new members joined our class by the names of Vera Steward and Wilma Nolt.

Our second year was much the same. Ray Markley and Vera Steward were transferred to Albion.

The next year we had the privilege of having another teacher, Mrs. Charles Hockensmith (nee Myrtle Hastings). In the fourth grade Vera Steward rejoined us from Albion.

Mrs. Mildred Jones endeavored to teach us in the fifth grade. We got her so befuddled that Mr. Lewis Pasom took over in the middle of the year. Pat Cayia and Alice Reece were added that year.

Mrs. Helen Delcamp became our teacher in the sixth grade. Only one addition was added that year, Carl Weber from West Salem.

We were really big when we were seventh graders. Betty Wood and Ray Markley joined us from Albion. Mr. Milo Brown was our advisor.

Mr. Workman became our advisor in the eighth grade. One new face was added that year, Marilyn Rex from Creston. Betty Wood and Virginia Stine were Junior High cheerleaders; Pat Cayia and Marilyn Rex were majorettes.

The Freshmen year found us at last in high school, with Mr. Workman as our advisor again. That year Jean McFerren won second place in the county typing contest.

During our Sophomore year, Mr. Maynard Bauer was our advisor. Some of the boys were on the baseball team that won the Medina County tournament. Wilma Nolt received "excellent" in the State Poetry Reading Contest and third in the state in English.

Our Junior year was one of our most exciting and eventful years. Mr. Brewer took over our advisorship for the next two years. Two new members arrived by the names of Betsy Hines and Jack Nelson from West Salem. Jack Nelson was awarded a trophy as receiving first place in the local track meet. Again, three of our boys were on the basketball and baseball teams. Bob Jeffery and Ray Markley received honorable mention in the county in basketball. In baseball, Homer was in first place in Medina County League play and also won the championship in the tournament. We presented our first class play, Susie the Siren under the direction of Mrs. David Campbell (nee Helen Peck). Virginia Stine was chosen to represent Homer at Bukeye Girls' State. The Junior and Senior Banquet was held at the Oberlin Inn. Ray Markley won the Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Award. We were sorry to lose Vera Steward and Alice Reece at the end of the year.

At last we are the proud and privileged seniors. We presented our hilarious play, Hillbilly Weddin' on November 21 and 22 under the guidance of Mr. Brewer.

By way of appropriate celebration, a strange ceremony, known as commencement, was held for our last assembly of the year. Speeches were made, for no particular reason; songs were sung, and scrolls called diplomas signifying the skill and finesse it took to get one were given to the seniors, and a good time was had by all.

CLASS PROPHECY

May 29, 1963

Dear Marilyn,

I got your telegram saying you were called away to a superintendent's meeting in the next city, so I decided to follow your suggestion to make the trip. My plane arrived at 10:00 A. M. I caught a taxi and drove out to David Barnes' address that you sent me. Dave's Dandy Fairly is run by push button control. It seems Dave didn't ever have enough time so he did the next best thing. David said he would declare a holiday and volunteered his station wagon to chauffeur me for the day. I dismissed the taxi and we started out to see the rest of our classmates. As we were driving toward town, we stopped at Darl Heen's Double KK Ranch. Darl surely has his hands full with his 1,000 acres.

After a tour of the ranch, we drove on into Homerville. At the outskirts of town, I caught sight of a new housing project. David told me Arthur Spellman was the contractor for the whole project.

We parked the station wagon in front of Betty's Beauty Bar. While we were visiting with Betty, she told us she was responsible for starting the new rage, bangs for boys.

Time was flying as we walked down the street a couple of blocks and went into an office which bore the sign "Homerville Ink Flash--Betsy Hines, Editor". Betsy showed us the printing rooms where they were running off the next morning's paper. As we were glancing at the headlines, I read, "Jack Nelson Prepares for his Trip to the Moon". Jack couldn't find an earth girl he liked so he is going to continue his research on the moon. Another headline revealed that Wilma Nolt arrived in Africa in search of a herd of pink elephants.

Just as we were deciding to continue our expedition, Carl Weber returned from an assignment. He showed us the photograph that won the Pulitzer Prize for the best photograph of the year.

After talking a little while longer, we started down the street. As Dave and I turned the corner, four little children bumped into us. David laughed, but wouldn't tell me why. We followed the children into a building named "Billard Hall". I found to my surprise the four children were a few of Fay Markley's ten kids. While we were talking over old times, in walked Bob Jeffery. Bob said he really enjoys his coaching job at Homer School. He laughingly told us about his first championship when he drove clear to Columbus before he remembered he had forgotten his team.

It was getting late; David had to get back to milk and I to my plane, so we said farewell and hurried into the wilds of Homerville to see the remaining members of our class. At the end of the little road we stopped at two huts. Out ran Pat Gayla and Jean McFerren. They told us they were getting tired of being hermits and were going up into the Catskills to pan for gold.

With our journey completed, we drove into town. David left me at the airport. I arrived home safely with many memories of my visits with my schoolday friends.

Now I'd better close and complete the bookkeeping of the transactions of our firm that piled up during my day off.

With love,

Virginia

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1953, being of unsound mind and hilarious spirits, do hereby gleefully will and bequeath (or any other way we can get rid of them) the following:

I, Dave Barnes, will my ability to get along on the least possible sleep to Jim McFredrick.

I, Pat Cayia, will my ability to eat everything I want and yet stay thin to Frances Majce.

I, Betsy Hines, will my place in the band to Larry Walsh.

I, Bob Jeffery, will my ability to play basketball to my brother, Bert.

I, Darl Keen, will my ability to play ping-pong to Carl Fritzche.

I, Ray Markley, will my ability to tell Mr. Brewer about the Senior boys' playing cards in the auditorium to Mr. Reik.

I, Jean McFerren, will my freckles to Geraldine Frank to keep company with her one and only freckle.

I, Jack Nelson, will my place as the only boy in the second period study hall to Eddie Kopylchak.

I, Wilma Nolt, will my love of talking in the second period study hall to Barbara Hursell.

I, Marilyn Rex, will my music ability to anyone who likes sour notes.

I, Virginia Stine, will my height to Gloria Jeffery.

I, Art Spellman, will my ability to get through school by the skin of my teeth to Ed Brazis.

I, Carl Weber, will my ability to stay in the dark room four periods in a row without a pass to Ed Brazis.

I, Betty Wood, will my ability to pass Shorthand by the skin of my teeth to Janice Pettit.

The Homer Varsity under the coaching of Mr. Turke won thirteen games while losing five. In league competition, we won four and lost four and were tied for fourth place with Lodi and Brunswick. Although lacking in height, the team showed plenty of hustle and determination that made for improvement throughout the year. Several Reserves saw action this past season who will be bidding for next year's starting berths.

The Reserve Team won twelve and lost six games.

A list of games played and the scores is given below:

Varsity

Opponents	Homer	Opp.
Nashville	67	57
Northwestern	35	93
Polk	71	45
Liverpool	57	58
LeRoy	60	50
York	72	54

Brunswick	64	73
Polk	99	66
Sullivan	82	66
Seville	65	66

Tournament

York	57	53
Seville	71	74

Although Homer failed to place in the tournament, it won several honors. Homer placed two boys on the all-county first team. Bob Jeffery was chosen as forward and Ray Markley as guard. Bob Stine received honorable mention as center. Janice Sooy received honorable mention in the cheerleading contest.

The trophies in the above picture are the baseball awards which Homer received for winning the county championship and the area championship.
